Take back control. Do it differently, do it your way.

In recent years, the popularity of remote working and advancement in technology has led to significant changes in working environments across all sectors.

Whether working at home, from a coffee shop, or a co-working space, employers and employees are recognising the benefits of working flexibly. Increased productivity, job satisfaction, and improved work life balance makes it easy to see why the demand for remote working is high.

How do we help?

Some of the biggest challenges of remote working is effective collaboration and staff management. Xelion's application enables remote workers to stay connected with their team, no matter where they're located.

Through one application, Xelion users can access voice calls, video calls, instant messaging, and file sharing, from wherever they're working. This allows remote workers to easily communicate with their team, share ideas and information, and stay updated on projects, even if they are not physically in the office.

Why Xelion?

Xelion makes remote working simple and offers users the same functionality and benefits as if working in the office, including:

- Changing your status when needed
- Joining hunt groups
- Automatically redirecting your calls when you're in a meeting or out of the office

All Xelion features are included as standard in each user license, and partners and end customers have access to everything Xelion has to offer straight out of the box.
